Priority Groups for H1N1

You should get the H1N1 Vaccine if you...

- Are pregnant
- Live with or care for children younger than 6 months old
- Work in health care or emergency medical services
- Are between the ages of 6 months and 24 years
- Have chronic health problems or a compromised immune system and are between the ages of 25 to 64.

If you meet these qualifications, you will be provided with H1N1 vaccine first, because you are most at risk of infection.

If you do not meet the qualifications listed above, H1N1 vaccine may be available to you later in the fall. But you should get the Seasonal flu Vaccine now. Call your doctor for more information.
